Warsaw, November 9.

According to the last Advices from Grodno, M. Lenzienski, named to go to the Czar's Court, in Quality of Deputy of the Republick, departed the 29th past, after having taken an Oath to acquit himself faithfully of his Commission. The Deputies of the Lesser Poland and Lithuania are employ'd in their Provincial Assemblies, in drawing up a Project for the publick Security, conformable to the late Treaty of Warsaw. The Deputies of Great Poland have already finish'd their Sessions. The Great Treasurer of Lithuania was order'd to furnish 400 Ducats towards the Expences of the Deputation that is sending to the Czar; but he answer'd, that he had no Money at present in the Treasury, and was even out of Pocket. Whereupon Commissaries are appointed to examine his Accompts.

Copenhagen Nov. 12. M. Ranzau, Brother of the Colonel of that Name, lately arriv'd from Norway, has brought the News, that a good Number of Swedes attack'd the Post Idelfjord in South-Norway, with Hopes of gaining it by Surprise; but that Count Ziplin, with the flat-bottom Boats and two Gallies of the Flotilla, had the good Fortune to repulse the Enemy three times, with great Loss on their Side, but on ours we had only 8 Men kill'd and 11 wounded. We hear from North Norway, that General Budde is encamp'd in a very advantageous Post, and almost impossible to be forc'd. The Detachment sent from South Norway is order'd to guard and preserve the Copper Mines. The Enemy expect a Reinforcement of 4000 Men; but with all that it will be extremely difficult for them to attack the said General, at least without Pontons for bringing their Cannon over the Rivers. We have receiv'd Confirmation of the Capture made by the Gottemburg Swedisch Privateers, of one of the West India Ships and some other Ships of that Fleet, whereof we as yet know not the Number. The Loss is estimated at 200000 Crowns. The Galls of the Enemy's Army draw towards Christiansia, to force a Passage there; and it being said that the King of Sweden himself, and under him General Ducker, are to execute that Design; the greatest part of the Troops in the Kingdom are to march that Way to oppose them. And to provide against all Events, Care is taken of Fredericksbhall, which the Enemy may possibly have a Design upon; and Orders are given, if they penetrate on that Side, and attempt to besiege the Castle of that City, to ruine the Houses round about, in order to take from them all Means of Shelter; as was done before at Drontheim.

From the Amst. Courant, dated Nov. 22.

Hamburgh, Nov. 18. We hear from Stockholm of the 26th of October, that the King of Sweden was come from Eds to Stromstadt, that the Regiment of Guards was marched the 23d from Stockholm to Wermeland, and that on the 25th, they were follow'd by the Nobility's Regiment of Horse, who were oblig'd to furnish them with Subsistence for two Months; and that all the Troops must appear at their general Rendezvous on the 6th of November, against which time, the Hereditary Prince of Hesse Cassel will also be there. The same Letters mention, that Baron Gorta was come from Stromstadt to Stockholm, and would in a short time return to Aland. General Leven is gone again to Schonen to wait upon the King. The Chancery is gone from Lund to Udewald, to remain there during the Campaign in Norway.

The Troops design'd for that Service consist of 18000 Men, who are to assemble near Bahuslehus, under the Command of the King, and 15000 near Wermeland, under the Hereditary Prince of Hesse Cassel; which Troops, with those under General Brafeld, will make up 40000 Men. A Regiment under General Taube, will at the same time remain near Stockholm, and a small Body in Schonen under the Field-Marshal Guldenstern. Letters from Copenhagen of the 15th of November say, they had Advice from Drontheim, that the Enemy had been oblig'd to remove their Camp thro' want of Subsistence; and that the Danish General Budde had forag'd with 3000 Men, and was safely returned. They add, that the Swedes have prepared great Floats of Timber to make use of in annoying the Danes.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated Nov. 22.

Genoa, Nov. 5. The Senate finds it self much embarrass'd between the Demands of the Emperor and the Threats of the Ministry of Spain. The 7000 Imperialists who sail'd the 26th past, met with a furious Storm, but we know not yet what has happen'd to them. A Ship come from Malta reports, that some English Men of War came thither, and demanded the Sicilian Gallies of the Grand Master, who at first refus'd them, but upon their threatening to burn them in the Port, he thought fit to surrender them, and they were conducted to Naples. By a Ship arrived here from Sicily, we learn, that there had been a vigorous Action before Melazzo, between the Imperialists and the Spaniards, whereof we expect the Particulars.

Paris, Nov. 13. M. the Bishop of Apt has open'd a new Manner of Appealing, without doubt to put himself under Cover from what the Parliaments may do against the Constitution, against his Mandates, and against his Person. He declares himself an Appellant from the King a Minor to the King a Major; and 'tis believ'd he has done this in a Letter to the Duke Regent. This way of Appeal appears very singular, and is a Subject of great Mirth at Court, and in all Companies.

From the Paris News Letter.
